

Table of contents

|    |      |                                                                        |
|----|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| p. | 7    | Introduction                                                           |
| 21 |      | Chapter 1                                                              |
|    |      | Deconstructing travel guidebooks                                |
|    | 1.1. | Introduction, 21                                                       |
|    | 1.2. | Do guidebooks still matter?, 25                                        |
|    | 1.3. | Travel guidebooks in Italy: an overview, 31                            |
|    | 1.4. | The Lonely Planet India, 37                                            |
|    | 1.5. | Conclusion, 54                                                         |
| 59 |      | Chapter 2                                                              |
|    |      | Packaging India: the gaze of tour operators                     |
|    | 2.1. | Introduction, 59                                                       |
|    | 2.2. | Destination India: from “product” to “experience”, 60                  |
|    | 2.3. | Tour operators in Italy: an overview, 65                               |
|    | 2.4. | A “stylish gaze” on India, 69                                          |
|    | 2.5. | The “alternative” tourist gaze, 81                                     |
|    | 2.6. | Conclusion, 90                                                         |
| 93 |      | Chapter 3                                                              |
|    |      | Varanasi narrated: travellers’ accounts of the journey to India |
|    | 3.1. | Introduction, 93                                                       |
|    | 3.2. | Travellers and tourists: two different perspectives on India?, 98      |

- 3.3. Varanasi: the sacred city, 103
- 3.4. Visualising Varanasi's sacredscape: a positioned tourist gaze, 111
- 3.5. The journey as a cultural laboratory, 119

|    |     |                  |
|----|-----|------------------|
| p. | 121 | Conclusion       |
|    | 127 | Bibliography     |
|    | 143 | Acknowledgements |