

Table of contents

- p. 9 As a preface. Mixing gender and reason to find a new path
by Antonella Cagnolati
- 13 Writing the silence. Self-censorship and restraint in women's communication
by Aitana Finestrat
- 41 "Native and natural". Margaret Cavendish's Agency, paving the way to the female subjectification
by Sergio Marín Conejo
- 63 Gender equality in puritanical North America in the late 18th Century. Judith Sargent Murray
by Veronica Pacheco Costa
- 83 Women, travel and... instruction? The Grand Tour of Elizabeth Webster
by María Teresa Ávila Martínez

- p. 109 Madame Helvétius and Sophie de Grouchy's radical Enlightenment
by Ricardo Hurtado Simó
- 149 "Much still remained to be said". Mixing Feminism and education in Mary Wollstonecraft's thought
by Antonella Cagnolati
- 177 Jacobin Women and political speech in the Gran Circolo Costituzionale of Bologna. On the patriot banquet on 28 May 1798
by Milagro Martín-Clavijo
- 221 Dialogical differences in "enlightened" Romanticism. The letters between Bettina von Armin and Karoline von Günderrode
by Leonor Sáez Méndez
- 263 "To have been born a Jewess". Rahel Varnhagen and the German-Jewish culture in the age of assimilation
by Mattia Di Taranto
- 289 Authors