

Table of Contents

p. 9 Foreword

35 Chapter 1

Formation of Fascist Ideology (1928-1931)

- 1.1. Introduction, 35
- 1.2. Each Thinker's Background, 38
- 1.3. Corradini's Image of Crispi, 45
- 1.4. The Historical Perspectives of Croce and Volpe, 49
- 1.5. Crispi in Historical Narratives, 52
- 1.6. Mussolini's View of Fascism, 57
- 1.7. Gentile's View of Fascism, 60
- 1.8. Rocco's View of Fascism, 63
- 1.9. Summary, 65

67 Chapter 2

Volpe: History of the Middle Class (1928-1949)

- 2.1. Introduction, 67
- 2.2. From Interventionism to Support of Fascism, 68
- 2.3. Categorization and Periodization of Modern History Works, 70
- 2.4. Perspective on World War I, 73

	2.5. Origins of Fascism in the Liberal Period, 75
	2.6. History of Fascisms, 77
	2.7. Return to the Description of the Liberal Period, 80
	2.8. Summary, 84
p. 87	Chapter 3
	Croce in His Later Years (1). 'Poetry' and 'Literature' (1933-1941)
	3.1. Introduction, 87
	3.2. Poetry and History – Their Writing Process and Central Position in Croce's Thought, 88
	3.3. From 'Intuition' to 'Poetry', 91
	3.4. 'Literature' and 'Civilization', 95
	3.5. Summary, 101
103	Chapter 4
	Gramsci During Imprisonment (1). To the History of the Subaltern Classes (1929-1932)
	4.1. Introduction, 103
	4.2. Gramsci's Readings of Croce, 105
	4.3. Croce and the Motivation Behind Writing the Prison Notebooks , 108
	4.4. Theoretical Preparation, 110
	4.5. Croce's Thought and the Concept of Hegemony, 114
125	Chapter 5
	Gramsci During Imprisonment (2). To the History of the Subaltern Classes (1932-1935)
	5.1. Introduction, 125
	5.2. Opportunity for Development – Changes in Methodology and Systematization of Ideas in the Notebooks , 126

	5.3. Refuting Croce – Historical Positioning of the Philosophy of the Praxis , 132
	5.4. Clarification of ‘Democracy’ – Strategy for the Achievement of New Hegemony, 137
	5.5. Hierarchical Order of Notebooks During the Latter Half of Imprisonment, 144
p. 153	Chapter 6 Croce in His Later Years (2). ‘Vitality’ and ‘Civilization’ (1941-1952)
	6.1. Introduction, 153
	6.2. Changes in Croce’s Life and Some Strange Editing – Traces of Deepening of the Philosophy of the Spirit in ‘Corpus’, 154
	6.3. Croce’s Hesitation – On the Theoretical Positioning of ‘Vitality’, 160
	6.4. The Disease of Fascism, and Liberalism Complemented by Democratic Institutions, 163
	6.5. Deepening of the Philosophy of the Spirit, 169
	6.6. Summary, 174
177	Chapter 7 De Martino in His Later Years. To the History of Folklore (1949-1965)
	7.1. Introduction, 177
	7.2. Between Gramsci and Croce, 182
	7.3. Death and Ritual Crying in the Ancient World (1958) – Rituals Supporting the ‘Ethos of Transcendence’, 186
	7.4. Magic: A Theory from the South (1959) – Dehistoricization and Modern Civilization, 188

	7.5. The Land of Remorse (1961) – Eternal Return to the Origin, 190
	7.6. Mystery in The End of the World – The Whereabouts of Vitality, 193
p. 201	Chapter 8 Faith and Freedom in Modern Society. On Fascism
213	Afterword
215	Notes
259	List of Major References